

Whiteboard Homophone Flash Game

Teacher sentences to read – children to flash whiteboard at you with the correct homophone written on it. Model full sentence on board if needed and discuss answers.

There were three children at the bus stop.
“They’re not going to fit through” Mum said.
You sew a button onto a shirt with cotton.
I planted a bean to grow broad beans.
How will you complete the task?
The cowboy rode into town on horse-back.
War activists fight for peace in the world.
“Can have a piece of cake?” asked Jamie.
I measured my waist using a tape measure.
Do not waste the Earth’s resources.
Here are the rules to the game.
The boy made the toys out of wood.
Put the key in the lock to open the door.
There is a right and wrong way to do things.
“Tell him to be quiet!” the teacher shouted.
The prisoner was locked in a cell.
The man decided to sell his old car.
I painted my bathroom a shade of blue.
The wind blew the plants away in the garden.
The car travelled along the main road.
I planted a yew tree in the garden.
My Gran could not hear the telephone ringing.
Victorian Girls often worked as a house maid.
I have been to the museum this half term.
The boats were all lined up in the quay.